What should my social media be doing for me?

Personal Brand

- The audience connects with your personality, values, and character.
- Even if your niche or content type changes, your audience stays.
- Trust is built around the person, not the topic.

Content-based Brand

- The audience is attached to a specific niche or type of content.
- If you change your niche, you lose a big part of your audience.
- Trust is built around the value or information you provide, not your identity.

Which one is better and has more results?
